

Home

U.S. government removes bald eagle from list of threatened species

Associated Press

3:25 p.m., Thursday, June 28, 2007

STORY TOOLS

- E-mail story
- Comments
- iPod friendly
- Printer friendly

MORE[SHARE AND ENJOY \[?\]](#)

WASHINGTON -- The American bald eagle marked a four-decade fight for survival Thursday as the government declared the bird -- a national symbol -- no longer requires the protection of the federal Endangered Species Act.

MICHEL FORTIER / Daily News

One of a nesting pair of bald eagles watches over the golf course at Audubon Country Club, where the mating birds have established themselves over the years. The pair quickly rebuilt after Hurricane Wilma and produced two offspring.

President Bush said the bald eagle's resurgence should be credited to cooperation between private landowners and federal and state governments. "This great conservation achievement means more and more Americans across the nation will enjoy the thrill of seeing bald eagles soar," he said.

Interior Secretary Dirk Kempthorne, making the formal announcement at the Jefferson Memorial, said: "Today I am proud to announce the eagle has returned."

His department made the recovery official by removing the eagle from the list of threatened species under the Endangered Species Act. The bird had been reclassified from endangered to threatened in 1995.

Today there are nearly 10,000 mating pairs of bald eagles in the contiguous 48 states, compared to a documented 417 in 1963 when the bird was on the verge of extinction everywhere except in Alaska and Canada where it has continued to thrive.

WEBIFIED

AP VIDEO: The Department of the Interior took the American bald eagle off the endangered species list Thursday. (June 28)

"After years of careful study, public comment and planning, the Department of Interior and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service are confident in the future security of the American bald eagle," said Kempthorne.

He promised that "from this point forward we will work to ensure that the eagle never again needs the protection of the Endangered Species Act."

The eagle, whose decline came during years in which the bird was often targeted by hunters and later became a victim of the pesticide DDT, will still be protected by state statutes and a federal law passed by Congress in 1940 that makes it illegal to kill a bald eagle.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is developing guidelines on how that law will be implemented. It also is developing a permitting system to allow landowners to develop their property and still protect the eagle population.

Comments

This site does not necessarily agree with comments posted below. Comments are the sole responsibility of the person posting them. Break our rules, and we will ban you. No exceptions, no second chances. Read our privacy policy & user agreement.

Post your comment
(Requires free registration.)

Username: _____

Password: _____
(Forgotten your password?)

Your Turn:
[Large text input area for comments]

Preview comment

Mel's Diner location in San Carlos Park closes

News Extras
Scripps Newspaper Group — Online
© 2008 The E.W. Scripps Co.
Privacy Policy | User Agreement

- Polls
- Today's Photos naplesnews.com | bonitanews.com | marconews.com | coastalbeat.com | colliercitizen.com | vistasemanal.com | naplessuntimes.com
- Latest Photo Galleries
- Latest Sports Photos: Shopzilla and BizRate | uSwitch.com compares gas & electricity, home phone, mobile phones, broadband, credit cards, loans
- Your News
- Your Photos
- Special News Features
- CCSO Arrest Log
- CCSO Arrest Log
- CCSO "Brandee Star" Blog
- CCSO YouTube Channel
- Sex Offender Search

Daily News Columnists

- Brent Batten
- Phil Lewis
- Jeff Lytle
- Ben Bova
- Chuck Curry
- Don Farmer
- Dave Moulton
- Peter Bergerson
- Bill Klauber
- Michael Peltier
- Mary Hill Dobbs
- Tim Aten
(In the Know - Collier)
- Brad Kane
(In the Know - Lee)
- Tom Hanson
- Chris Griffith
- Russell Tuff
- Kaydee Tuff
- Mark Strain
- Jim Suttie
- Tom Patri
- John Preeg
- Doris Reynolds
- Gerry Kramer
- Jamie Shane
- Chris Curle
- Irv Blackman
- Jeff Blackman
- Howie Burnett

Participate - Tell Us What's Going On

- What's going on in your neck of the woods? Call our Web desk at 239-403-6102 with your news tips.
- Don't like the phone? Drop us a line or submit your photos via email.
- Head over to our Participate section to learn how to submit your stuff!

naplesnews.com Traffic Page

Tired of being stuck behind that cement mixer? Wondering if you need to buy stock in Bob's Barricades? Check out our Traffic page and get a handle on gridlock. Get live traffic updates from the Collier County Sheriff's Office and local traffic Web sites. Source the cheapest gas in the area with Gasbuddy.com and always be prepared with the latest weather forecast. No matter where you're driving, naplesnews.com has you covered. Get on the road »